

Twenty Eight Years of Auctions PHOEBUS AUCTION GALLERY

In the Spring of 1992 when Phoebus Auction Gallery held its first auction, the company consisted of two and a half employees, and a lot of family support. Our clients came from heaven, our buyers came in person. With a lot of work and love for the business we have grown to between eight and 15 employees, have clients all over the world, and have been able to take pride in our innovations and expert staff, still working hard and with a deep respect for both our sellers and buyers.

We were third Auction company to have our own website, and the second auction gallery in the world to offer real time on-line bidding while simultaneously auctioning in our Gallery. Our Mellen Street location in Phoebus grew from 14 E. Mellen to 14-18 E. Mellen when we were able to purchase the building.

Many of our specialists have been with us for most of our years and have proven to be dedicated and talented devotees of the auction business. I humbly thank this wonderful staff and our loyal clientele as we look to the coming years as a time for more innovation as well as change for the ever evolving world of antiques, auctions, and appraisals.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!

At this time as we launch our 28th year, we will operate as usual except that during these unusual global restrictions we will hold the Sunday, June 7th Auction "on line" and on the phone only. Our fondest wish and hope is that we can return to the days of live in our gallery as well as on line and phone.
